

THE 5-MINUTE CREDIT REPORT CHECK

Before you worry about the score, look at what is actually on your reports.

Take five minutes and review these areas on both Equifax Canada and TransUnion Canada.

1 CHECK YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION

- ☐ Is your name and date of birth correct?
- ☐ Are your addresses accurate?
- ☐ Is there information you do not recognize?

Unfamiliar personal information is a reason to look deeper.

2 LOOK FOR ACCOUNTS YOU DO NOT RECOGNIZE

- ☐ Review every lender or creditor listed.
- ☐ Does each account actually belong to you?

Do not recognize something? Do not ignore it. Investigate it.

3 CHECK YOUR BALANCES

Compare a few active accounts with your own records.

- ☐ Does the balance make sense?
- ☐ Is the credit limit correct?
- ☐ Is a paid account still showing a balance?

Reporting dates can create differences. A different balance is not automatically an error.

4 REVIEW YOUR PAYMENT HISTORY

- ☐ Are late or missed payments accurate?
- ☐ Do the dates match your records?
- ☐ Do you have statements or payment confirmations?

If something looks inaccurate, save your proof before you dispute it.

5 REVIEW YOUR COLLECTIONS

For each collection, check:

- ☐ Collection company and original creditor
- ☐ Balance and important dates
- ☐ Whether you recognize the debt

Do not rush to pay or dispute. Understand what is being reported first.

6 CHECK YOUR HARD INQUIRIES

- ☐ Do you recognize each application?
- ☐ Does the date make sense?
- ☐ Did you authorize the inquiry?

An unfamiliar inquiry deserves a closer look.

7 COMPARE EQUIFAX AND TRANSUNION

Your two reports may not contain exactly the same information. Compare:

- ☐ Accounts and balances
- ☐ Payment history and collections
- ☐ Hard inquiries

If something appears on one report but not the other, take note of it.

FINISHED? ASK YOURSELF THIS:

WHAT ACTUALLY NEEDS MY ATTENTION FIRST?

Not every negative item is an error. Not every difference means something is wrong.
Every situation is different. There is no one strategy for every credit profile.
